

Body of missing woman found in canal

BELLE GLADE - The body of Julie Ramos, 27, was found in a canal on the south side of state road 80 one and a half miles west of Belle Glade Friday.

November 19. According to the Belle Glade Police Department, Ramos had been missing since November 7, when she was last seen at the Holiday Inn. According to Sheriff's Office releases, a Glades Sugar Co-operative employee found the body November 19. The body was badly decomposed and no positive identification was made until earlier this week. The cause of death is unknown. Detective Harry Driggers said that no water was found in the body's lungs, so it is unlikely drowning was the cause.

Jewelry and clothing found on the body prompted the sheriff's offices to tentatively identify the body as that of Ramos prior to positive identification by the medical examiner.

The release further stated that circumstances surrounding Ramos' death have been determined to be suspicious and the sheriff's office is handling the case as a homicide.

Autopsy results have been inconclusive, and the sheriff's office is questioning individuals in connection with the case, according to Driggers.

Gators meet Hialeah in playoffs

1982 GLADES DAY GATORS

BELLE GLADE - The Glades Day School Gators will be taking on Hialeah-Dade Christian Friday night in the first round of the Class A playoffs.

It will be the first time since 1980 that the Gators have gone to post-season. That year, they won the class A state championship.

Last year, the Gators lost the district seven title to Benjamin.

How will the Gators prepare for their meeting with Hialeah-Dade?

"We have our work cut out," said Coach Byron Walker. "We have to get our blocking scheme down. We're not gonna do many different things."

Walker said he expects a well balanced offensive attack and a strong defense from the opposition. Hialeah-Dade has a running back who racked up 1,700 yards this year, he said, and he wants to see the Gators hold him.

"That would certainly be a feather in our cap."

"We've never relied on any one individual all year," said Walker of his team. "We're just put in a position to rely on one man to carry the load for us. We're all gonna have to be our part."

Last week, the Gators closed a regular season with a 28-14 victory over Melbourne Central. The victory gave the Gators a 7-3 record, a same record as Hialeah-Dade.

"The outcome was never in question," said Walker. "I thought overall we played well. We made some mistakes that we can't afford to make. They threw two late

Sewage rates go up as 2nd bond issue prepared

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - City utility rates will increase for the second time in less than a year due to bond issues.

The Belle Glade City Commission Monday night, November 22, approved an increase to the sewage rates city customers will be paying. The rate increase was part of a package necessary to issue bonds for improvements to the sewage plant.

The minimum fee customers will be paying will go from $8.50 to $14.85 per month, according to Acting City Manager Frank Anderson. That fee is based on 2,000 per month minimum.

The rate per additional thousand gallons will go from $1.14 up to $1.95. The new rates will go into effect in January.

The rate increase is part of the commission's efforts to issue $4.3 million in bonds for the sewer plant project.

Earlier this year, sewage rates and water rates were increased when the city adopted another bond resolution for the water plant project.

Mayor Thomas L. Altman said the average bill for customers every month will increase from $13.10 to $22.50. Utility rates will have increased almost 100 percent in a year's time when the new rates go into effect, he said.

"I don't see as how we got any choice," said Commissioner George Goforth, Jr.

"We may as well bite the bullet and get it over with," agreed Commissioner Charles Goforth.

The commission also adopted an ordinance establishing a $.70 per month mosquito control fee attached to each utility bill. That fee also goes into effect on January 1.

Briefly

Thanksgiving series set

BELLE GLADE - The Belle Ministerial Alliance annual Community Thanksgiving Services will be held Thanksgiving morning at 10 a.m. at The Everglades Presbyterian Church, 1049 N. Main St., and N.W. Ave. K.

The Rev. Harry Russell, pastor of the Community United Methodist Church will deliver the Thanksgiving message.

Rev. Russell's message is entitled "House on Thanksgiving Street." His scripture lesson is Deuteronomy 8:7-18 and Matthew 23:23-30.

The choir, under the direction of Margaret Whitlock will sing "His Mercy Endureth." The choir will be made up members of the Presbyterian and Alliance churches.

Dr. David T. Evans, pastor of the host church, said that the Presidential Proclamation will be read and a special offering for the needy and transients will be taken.

The Rev. Robert Atkins of the First Baptist Church, the Rev. J.B. Adams, of St. John's First Baptist Church, the Rev. Aaron Peiray of the Worship Center, and the Rev. Buck Cobb, the Church of God of Prophecy are also participating in the service.

Black Gold at crossroads

BELLE GLADE - The Black Gold Jubilee Committee found itself at a crossroads this year.

The annual Black Gold Jubilee has grown each year since its inception in 1978, but committee in charge of putting the package together were unsure what direction they wanted the jubilee to grow.

Chairman Rupert Mock, Jr. asked the committee Friday, November 19, whether it wanted to attract outsiders to the Glades with the annual festival or whether it wanted to make into a larger community oriented event.

The reactions, and the answer, were mixed. The committee passed a motion made by former chairman Steve Weeks that it promote the event.

The motion was kept vague, but discussion at the meeting indicated that the committee members wanted to see the event expanded to attract outsiders to it.

Carol Ann Haller suggested that the committee focus on developing one aspect of the area to attract outsiders' interests, and at the same time retaining the local flavor to promote local participation.

Several proposals to make the festival more attractive were discussed. The one that drew the most interest was a suggestion that the jubilee feature the "world's largest salad bowl."

The vegetables would be gathered into a swimming pool or a bowl designed for the purpose, at the festival. The salad would be served to those attending the event.

Committee member Israel Baez said the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce had asked Port Committee member John Baker about the possibility of having the Port Committee cook catfish and barbecued chicken for the two day event in April.

Another proposal the committee is looking into is renting a large tent to place the concession booths in. The $5 fee charged to those renting places for booths in the past may be increased to $50 if the committee decides to rent a tent.

The rent for a tent measuring 80 feet by 100 feet would be $5,950. A tent measuring 50 feet by 100 feet would cost between $4,600 and $5,000.

Committee member Bob Carlson asked how the committee was willing to go to attract outsiders to the event.

"I mean, if you get Hugh Hefner and some of his girls, that would attract people. How else would you get it?" he asked.

George Goforth, Jr. agreed. "You won't get no state about presenting it to outsiders," he said. "But there might be some about how you present it."

He said the event, like a business, will grow and become a bigger success, or it will fail and disappear.

Baez echoed a sentiment expressed by many of the committee members when he said he thought the event should be used to attract outsiders to show them what the Glades holds.

City annexes bowling alley property

BELLE GLADE - The Belle Glade City Commission Monday night, November 22, adopted a pair of ordinances annexing the bowling alley property on South Main Street and creating a new alcoholic beverage zone for it.

The new owner of the property, Tom Bonavia, had asked the city to annex the property and create the zone to make it legal to operate a lounge in the establishment.

Bonavia said he won't be managing the bowling alley when it opens in the middle of December, but he introduced the new operator and manager to the city commissioners.

The property is currently in the county and is zoned neighborhood commercial and commercial general according to City Attorney John E. Baker and City Planning Director Remar Harvin.

The new H zoning will allow the operators of the club to sell any type of liquor or beer for consumption on the premises only. Package sales will not be permitted.

Commissioner George Goforth, Jr., asked why the city commission could create a new designation for the bowling alley property, but couldn't for Larry's Package when its owner requested a new designation.

Larry Simmons had approached the city commission earlier this year and asked that his package store be rezoned to permit him to sell draft beer in small containers for consumption off the premises. The commission couldn't make a new designation for that request because of state law.

According to Baker and Mayor Thomas L. Altman, the new zone created for the bowling alley property conforms with a similar state designation. The new zone requested for Larry's Package didn't match a state designation, so it was illegal.

Simmons problem was later resolved by the city and he was permitted to sell draft beer.

Altman wanted to know if the building would conform with city codes, but Harvin assured him that it would.

"The major renovations that they are planning for the building will, I think, more than bring it up to our standards," said Harvin.

In other business, the commission:

- Approved a request from the Glades Festival of Afro Arts Executive Committee that the city donate rental fees for the Lake Shore City Center and Park back to the committee and grant it concession rights.

The fourth annual Afro-Arts Festival will be held the weekend of March 19, with events scheduled through the week of March 13.

Commissioners charge staff with airport studies

BELLE GLADE - Will the city ever complete its master plan for the Belle Glade Airport or is it forever to be put on the back burner, waiting further study?

The question was brought up for the second consecutive meeting Monday, Nov. 22.

S.N. Knight and Sons, seeking to incorporate flight operations closer to the airport in Belle Glade, asked permission from the commission to build hangars and operate a refueling facility at the airport.

The commission has been hesitant in the past to grant anyone permission to develop structures at the airport while the master plan for the facility is developed.

The commission and city staff members met in the summer to discuss the master plan, but it was put back because of other, more pressing business.

"In all good conscience, I start on it, but then other things come in that must be addressed more quickly, and it gets shoved aside," said City Atorney John E. Baker. "I accept full responsibility."

The city commissioners asked Acting City Manager Frank Anderson to examine a memorandum listing nine points that must be resolved on the airport plan.

He is supposed to assign those points to staff members for study and present the findings and recommendations to the city commission in a couple weeks.

Mayor Thomas L. Altman said that when the city was discussing airport improvements earlier in the year, then City Manager Rolfe Wagner "told" the city commission on the idea of a master plan because it was a prerequisite for grants to help finance the project.

City Planning Director Remar Harvin said Monday night that only a layout plan is necessary for the city to be eligible for grants in the project.

"I don't think we need a master plan if that's not the case," said Altman. "If it's not a prerequisite."

Commissioner Charles Goodlett said he thought the layout should be adopted before the city establish any other guidelines governing airport development.

Altman said the city must set standards for structures at the airport and determine a schedule for relocating agricultural operators before it can allow other individuals to locate at the facility.

Agricultural operators are currently located along Airport Road, but must be relocated to the area parallel to the north-south runway, according to the layout discussed earlier in the year.

"We aren't ignoring (S.N. Knight and Sons' request)," said Altman. "In fact, we're most anxious to accommodate it. We just gotta get some of these things ironed out."

Beautification committee parade rescheduled

BELLE GLADE - The Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce annual Beautification Committee "Clean-Up" Parade has been rescheduled for Saturday, Dec. 4.

According to Executive Secretary Jewel Crane, the parade was originally scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 20, but had to be cancelled because of the disaster drills going on throughout Palm Beach County Saturday.

Dr. Effie Grear, principal of Glades Central Community is chairman of the parade committee.

The parade will start at 10 a.m., at Glades Central High School, on N.W. Fourth St., and will moved west on W. Canal St. North to Main St. to

S.W. Ave. E., to Lake Shore Middle School.

Dr. Grear said parade participants are asked to line-up beginning at 9:30 p.m.

The Lake Shore Middle School and the Glades Central High School bands will participate.

Mrs. Crane said the theme for this year's beautification month activities is "Citizens join the race, help Tiny Tim put trash in its place."

Miss Pat Sanders a senior at Glades Central Community School presented the winning slogan.

Mrs. Crane said Tiny Tim look-alikes are encouraged to enter the parade.

For more information about the beautification campaign please contact Mrs. Crane at 996-2745.

Everglades History . . . Taken from our back issues

20 YEARS AGO

The Belle Glade Herald
November 22, 1963

Plans to build the Everglades Museum in the immediate future were announced. Foundations for the chapel and three crypt buildings had already been poured and the facility was planned to have a total capacity of 646 burial spaces.

The prices of the crypts included payments to a trust fund for perpetual care. The Belle Glade Herald was presented a public service award plaque by the Florida Press Association in recognition of a series of articles on the local hospital controversy.

The Herald was given credit for influencing area residents to vote against a consolidated hospital and to float a bond issue to construct a new facility in Belle Glade.

A perfect football season was spoiled for Belle Glade High School when Pahokee played the Golden Rams to a 14-14 tie but the Rams still managed to win the Suncoast Conference championship.

Going into the game, the Rams were sporting a 7-0 season record in conference play but the Blue Devils, with a 6-1 conference record, had a crack at a tie for the championship themselves.

30 YEARS AGO

The Belle Glade Herald
November 21, 1952

The Glades had already lost $200,000 worth of summer payroll and stood to lose another $500,000 as the government cut back purchases of kenaf and ramie being grown here.

An estimated 900,000 of baled kenaf fiber was being stored in area warehouses tangled in a web of bureaucratic red tape.

And while the kenaf was being stored in the Glades, a front page story said the U.S. Defense Department was paying $1.07 a pound for Egyptian long-strand cotton.

The story said kenaf could be used more efficiently for anything for which the cotton was normally used. The price was 85 cents a pound.

A reception at the Belle Glade American Legion Hall was being planned to cap a day-long visit to the area by federal, state and county officials.

The officials were coming to the Glades to inspect the protective dikes in the Central and South Florida Flood Control District.

The officials were to visit the area in a motorcade which would start in Miami and pause in Davie so the visitors could eat a barbecue there.

Alice Ribb Tolbert, probably the oldest living resident of Belle Glade, celebrated her 100th birthday.

Mrs. Tolbert reminisced with friends on her birthday about when General Sherman led the Yankees through Georgia.

She said she was a slave at the time and her masters hid their valuables in her mothers' house on a plantation in Lumpkin, Ga.

The Pahokee Senior Woman's Club sent copies of a resolution to several agencies and Gov. Spessard Holland to protest the end of health services in remote areas of the county.

Pahokee was one of the thinly populated areas for which the service was to be ended. Copies of the resolution were also being aimed at the State Board of Health and the press.

A frost warning service was being made available to growers in the Lake Okechobee area with an office being located in Belle Glade.

Threats of frost were to be broadcast over the radio for 24 hours in advance. Otherwise, warnings would be telegraphed or published.

In addition to the frost warning service, an experimental rain forecast service was also being inaugurated, with warnings to be telephoned or telegraphed from Lakeland to the Belle Glade office.

Belle Glade High School's Golden Rams were to meet Palm Beach High's Wildcats for the first time, using Lait Field in Pahokee for the game.

The Pahokee City Council passed an ordinance controlling the distribution of propaganda within the city limits.

The ordinance, passed at the request of indignant citizens, applied to books, pamphlets, leaflets and other printed matter.

touchdown passes. That was just about all of their offense all night.

The Glades Day offense put the first seven points on the board for the Gators, but after that, it was all defense for the district seven champions.

In the first quarter, the Gators took the ball and drove 65 yards to the touchdown. Raul Garcia hit Marlon Tyson with an eight yard pass to culminate the drive.

The extra-point was put between the uprights by Mike Schlechter.

At the end of the first half, the Gators were up 7-0.

Melbourne Central tied the game up in the third with 75-yard touchdown pass from Steve Leroux to Dave Schreiner.

Glades Day came back with seven in the third and seven in the fourth to clinch Byron Walker's 50th win as the team's head coach.

Davey Haynes recovered a fumble and ran it one yard for the touchdown, and Schlechter added the extra point.

In the fourth, Jose Perez recovered a fumble at the one-yard line and ran it in. Schlechter's kick put the Gators up 21-7.

Late in the fourth quarter, Melbourne closed the gap to seven when Leroux hit Schreiner again for a 40-yard touchdown pass.

Glades Day held Melbourne to 20 yards on the ground and 183 passing, while the Gator offense picked up 177 yards rushing and 31 passing.

Give thanks for your blessings

One of the finest traditions ever started in this country is Thanksgiving. It means as much today as it did back then when every day was a struggle for survival against starvation, disease, and weather.

It is a uniquely American holiday, reflecting the special nature of this country.

All of us, in one way or another, have much to be thankful for: the gift of life, family, and freedom.

Life may not always be a pleasure cruise, but most of us can look at our lot in life and see that we have been blessed in countless ways.

Thank goodness that we are Americans and have the privilege of living in this wonderful country.

The fourth Thursday in November comes but once a year, so use this occasion the way it was intended. Give thanks.

Congratulations 10-0 Tigers

Perfection in life is rare, but the Clewiston High School football team attained it Friday with their 27-14 win over Okeechobee.

The win gave Clewiston a perfect 10-0 football season.

A perfect season is what many coaches, players and fans dream of, but never see.

Everyone hopes for a perfect season, but many variables, including talent, coaching, the schedule, and injuries, come into the picture.

Clewiston, playing most of the year with only about 20 players, took on some of the toughest teams in the state.

Pahokee ranked as the finest 2A competitor the Tigers faced and the game won the 3-0 contest.

Clewiston also faced many Class 3A teams, including Ft. Myers, Ft. Myers/Cypress Lake, Miami Pace, Sebring, Okeechobee, Cocoa Beach, and Leesburg.

It was a tough schedule and one that should prepare Clewiston well for the playoffs.

The last Glades team that went 10-0 during the regular season, Glades Day School, went on to a state championship.

What has already been accomplished gives us a tremendous feeling of pride. Congratulations team and best of luck in the playoffs!

Trash sites a good idea

The recent proposal that Belle Glade develop six trash collection sites should be looked at by other cities which don't have such facilities.

City officials often discuss and lament the trash and garbage situation in their cities, but seldom can they come with a solution.

The proposal to develop trash collection sites may not solve the problem. Their presence may not create clean streets and sidewalks and lawns. Areas with trashy images may not lose them because of the new sites.

But that wouldn't be the city's fault. The city, by creating these trash collection sites, are giving the citizens an opportunity to keep their city clean.

Citizens who have complained to the city about trash littering the city and giving it a bad image can do something about it now.

True, they can only keep their own plots clean. They can't go into another's property and remove what they consider trash.

But they can also urge their neighbors to use the sites, once they are established, and keep their places clean also.

This type of joint-project between the city, local civic clubs and the citizens themselves, present an opportunity to clean up the city's image. We urge citizens to use the facilities once they are set up, and we also urge other cities lacking an effective means of collecting trash to consider such projects.

It's a time of brotherhood, a time of peace and a time to give thanks for all our blessings...as we reflect upon the true meaning of Thanksgiving.

May this special day be filled with health and happiness...the joy of giving and receiving...as we celebrate this occasion with friends and loved ones.

Well done, Mr. Pressley

We would like to add our words of commendation to Glades County School Board Chairman Mike Pressley for his masterful handling of last Wednesday's special meeting.

In an emotionally-charged atmosphere he managed to keep order and yet allow both sides to be heard on the issue. We applaud his timing also, in curtailing further discussion after opinions had been expressed on both points of view. To have allowed more discussion might well have produced more heat than light. By postponing debate until another meeting, there is time for some quiet contemplation on whether the policy on disciplinary measures needs to be revised or whether similar situations could be averted without changing the basic policy.

It was the kind of meeting that tries the mettle of veteran chairmen. For Mike Pressley, it was the first school board meeting he chaired. Well done, Mr. Pressley.

Lake Okeechobee quality plan submitted

Lake Okeechobee's water quality got another boost as the Governing Board of the South Florida Water Management District approved a plan for a permanent solution to water quality concerns in the Lake.

The plan, which will be submitted to the State Department of Environmental Regulation for review, calls for nitrogen-rich runoff from the Everglades Agricultural Area to be stored in lands known as the Holey Land and the Rotenberger Tract for reuse as irrigation water.

Organic nitrogen naturally occurs in the Glades muck soils. However, under backpumping operations utilized for flood protection and water supply, this nutrient was deposited in Lake Okeechobee. Over a period of time this could lead to an unhealthy balance of dissolved oxygen in the Lake, harming fish and wildlife, recreation and water supply values.

Under the plan, backpumping will be eliminated except in times of extreme flooding, thereby reducing the nitrogen input into the Lake by about 95 percent. Instead, the agricultural runoff would be funneled south and stored in the Holey Land, which will be used exclusively as a water reservoir, and in the Rotenberger Tract, which will be managed by the Game and Freshwater Fish Commission specifically as a wildlife management for deer.

Due to time and cost considerations, the project is proposed to be built by District forces, rather than by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers as is the usual procedure. Corps' permitting procedures and bid regulations could double the cost of the project, estimated at $8.5 million, and would add years to the completion date.

"We can get cracking on this right now," District Executive Director Jack Maloy said, "and we wouldn't have to add any personnel to it. I would like people to understand that this organization has a serious commitment to water quality and environmental considerations."

The cost of constructing the Holey Land Reservoir would be shared equally between the local agricultural interests utilizing the system and the District taxpayers at large, with each paying about $3.55 million.

"This is a departure from our normal funding procedure of 80 percent federal funds and 20 percent District funds, but this does not mean that our water supply and flood control funding mechanisms will change in the future," Maloy said. "This is a water quality project which is something different.

There are tangible benefits in this plan for everyone and there are tangible costs in this plan for everyone."

The planning, design, permit acquisition, construction and operation of the project would be District responsibility.

The plan, which responds to Department of Environmental Regulation permitting requirements for Lake Okeechobee, also addresses the input of phosphorus into the Lake from dairies and to the north. An ongoing Rural Clean Waters Program in this area, designed to retain animal wastes on ranch sites, thereby reducing the inflow of phosphorus into the Lake, is included in the plan.

- ✓ Letters should be relatively brief — no more than 300 words as a general rule.
- ✓ Signatures are required.
- ✓ No poetry, please.

sharing for the project would be on a state regional-local basis. The state would be responsible for consolidating privately-owned parcels in the Holey Land and Rotenberger Tracts and swapping them for other state-owned lands by July 1, 1983.

The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission would participate by funding 50 percent of the Rotenberger Project at a cost of $785,000, with the remainder to be paid by the District.

A bull market ...

It's ironic that Peter Pulitzer, grandson of the man who made millions from a newspaper empire, should become the subject of one of the most sensational stories in years.

The Pulitzer divorce trial, with allegations of all kinds of strange sex and drug goings-on, has made headlines all over the country.

It's kind of scary to think that something like this is going on over yonder in Palm Beach.

Just goes to prove that it's either the kind of thing that people like to read or that journalists get a thrill out of writing.

It makes you wonder why more divorce trials aren't publicized. Generally, though, it's only the famous and the rich who get to air all their dirty linen in public.

I wonder what kind of redeeming value this sort of publicity has. You'd think that any one rich and famous would quake at the thought of getting divorced if similar exposes are likely or possible.

Apparently this has little effect, because it seems rich people get just as unhappy in marriage as poor ones do—maybe even more so.

With the bull market in divorces these days, I'm glad that we don't generally treat them as news.

If we did, the paper would undoubtedly be juicier and more scandalous. But there wouldn't be room for much else either.

Two Glades area teams will be taking part in the state football championships Friday. Clewiston plays Melbourne Central Catholic and Glades Day School travels to Miami. Good luck to both teams.

AILSA DEWING

AND WHAT NOT

I'm in my own time warp

While the rest of mankind blithely hums, bleeps, and swooshes through an electronically-tuned-in world, I'm still trying to figure out why a zipper zips and what makes water come out of faucets.

My knowledge of advanced technology extends to understanding how a flush toilet works. I live in constant dread that one day that too will go electronic. I couldn't cope.

Focusing a TV set is beyond me. I circle around oblivion — a random voices talking in a blizzard. I think I've even been picked up on ET's phone calls. By the time I find out where NBC's peacock is roosting, it's molted. On my set, the CBS eye blinks back at me and weeps.

But nothing quite defeats me like the telephone recording. Just like my TV, there's the voice of someone talking but nobody's there. The difference is that I'm expected to talk back to a beep. I can't do it. I usually hang up and write myself a script I can recite into the recorder. What I want to do is record a reply that would say: "Hi, Beep. This is Burp. When your real self arrives ask it to call me." I imagine endless conversations continuing between Beep and Burp with never a human contact.

Or I plot revenge. A sultry voice for the males that says, "Hello, there. You asked me to call you when I had a night free. Well, tonight's free. Just call me, Honey, I'll be waiting." Followed by the sound of a click and no phone number. A velvety baritone would do for the guys. ... just in town for the day. How about dinner? I'll call you back later."

Some people are born before their time and are proclaimed geniuses. Nothing is ever said about who we are born after or even passed-hand crunchers awash in a battery-operated world of push buttons.

Meanwhile, I'll just sit here and review the multiplication tables. With everybody over four years old whipping out calculators, somebody may have to be able to remember someday how we used to do it in our heads.

Time was when knowledge was power. Now all knowledge is powered and it pays to keep your batteries dry.

Raiders close out season with big win

DELRAY BEACH—The Glades Central Raiders closed out their 1992 football season Thursday night with a big win over Pope John Paul II at Atlantic High School.

The Raiders handed the Eagles a 20-0 District 14-AAA football defeat.

Although the Raiders failed to accomplish any of its goals, the team set at the beginning of the season, according to Coach Dan Brown, the Raiders can boast of the accomplishments of one of the team's tailbacks.

The Raiders were eliminated from post-season play by losing to Cardinal Newman High School early on during the regular season.

Randy Rutledge, the 5-foot-8, 185 tailback at Glades Central helped the Raiders complete the season on a winning note with three touchdowns.

He also finished the season with 1,046 yards. Rutledge, led the Raiders, carrying 19 times for 189 yards.

Rutledge wasted no time accomplishing what he had set out to do; help the Raiders win and gain over a 1,000 yards.

On Glades Central's third play from scrimmage he took the handoff from Eric Smith on his own 30 yard line and started a sweep around the right. The result was a 70 yard touchdown run and a 6-0 Glades advantage with 8:28 remaining in the first quarter. The extra point attempt failed.

With 9:00 left in the second quarter, Rutledge scored on a 4-yard run after setting up the score with runs of 6, 30 and 3 yards.

The Raiders went into the half with a 12-0 lead. Rutledge had gained 142 yards for a season total of 898.

Although by looking at the score, it would appear the Eagles had not played a good game, Coach Pete Christie said he was proud of his guys.

"They played tough and strong and they're a super bunch of kids," he said.

Pope John Paul, graduating its first senior class this year, were moved up from Class 2A to Class 3A this year and placed in the tough District 14-AAA category.

The Raiders finished second in the district to Cardinal Newman, while Pope John Paul, Atlantic and North Shore tied for third.

In the second half, Coach Brown inserted back up quarterbacks Kenn Hammond and Louis Oliver, but still gave Rutledge the stage.

Rutledge would close out the game's scoring with a 4-yard run and would reach is 1,000 yard gain goal.

Glades would score two points on the conversion as quarterback Hammond passed to Eric Smith in the end zone.

Letter to the editor

Editor:

We we Americans who have made our home in Latin America for seven years. Lately, we are seeing much distorted news about America coming out of the U.S. and would like to set the record straight for Observer readers.

When we first moved to Costa Rica, I, a long-haired, bearded, and pet, we spoke no Spanish and knew little about the country. But, soon, our rural neighbors accepted us and graciously taught us their language, culture, and how a citybred family could enjoy ranch life in a foreign land. Truly, our delightful adventures there merit a book, at least!

My husband's love for the sea (Pearl Harbor survivor, retired Navy), prompted a further move two years ago, to Columbia's Caribbean coast. We found a lovely, old coconut plantation on the Pan American Highway near Santa Marta, the oldest (467 years), most fascinating city in all of the Americas.

Imagine, green palms waving in gentle ocean breezes, blue sea and sky, pounding surf and golden sand and, towering 19,000 feet over all and encompassed the year 'round, majestic Mount Columbia. We feel we have much...incomparable beauty, fine neighbors, perfect climate, a stable, democratic government and a satisfying low cost of living.

Like Columbia, we have discovered a new frontier, with a vast potential and, being human, are driven to tell others about our dream-come-true. If you are interested in the future of the Americas...and the Birds...write us by international air mail(35' Santa Marta, we wish you salud(health), p.e.s.t.a.l.(wellb), amor(love) and the time to enjoy them all!

Home care week observed in the Glades

BELLE GLADE—The Palm Beach Regional Visiting Nurse Association is joining in a national celebration of homecare week. The week has been set aside to pay tribute to the dedicated individuals throughout the country who efforts allow some four million people to receive the health and social services they need in the conforting surroundings of their own home. Mrs. Marilyn H. Shiffert, Executive Director of the VNA said: "We are deeply honored that the Congress and the President have chosen to honor our profession by declaring National Home Care Week. We do our best to serve the elderly and infirm of our nation. We shall continue to provide them with the highest quality of service." President Reagan signed into law the joint Senate and House Resolution creating National Home Care Week on October 14. The primary sponsors of the resolution were Senators David Pryor and Orrin Hatch and Congressman Claude Pepper of Florida and Leon Panetta.

Statistics from the U.S. General Accounting Office indicate that nearly 1.2 million people over the age of 65 currently reside in nursing homes and other institutions, as an annual cost of $10 million. GAO suggests that fully 25 percent of these people could be equally well cared for in their homes at a substantial savings. Estimates are that home care costs about one-quarter of institutional care.

Home care, however, is a great deal more than a cost effective form of treatment. As Congressman Claude Pepper noted recently in an address to the members of the National Association for Home Care, the providers of home care services place "dignity and the meaning of human life, health and happiness as their primary goals."

In Palm Beach County, The Visiting Nurse Association provided home care services to approximately 2700 residents in 1981 and will far exceed that number in 1982. These services range from daily nursing care to physical therapy to general home chore support services such as personal grooming and assistance in the practice of self-help techniques for the home bound patient.

The Palm Beach County VNA has four community based centers, one each in West Palm Beach, Boynton Beach, Boca Raton and Belle Glade.

The Belle Glade office of VNA is located at 1218 S.W. Ave. E Place.

D.W. Cunningham, manager of Greene Dry Goods Co. in Canal Point, came up with the concept of stuffing stoppage in his overall legs for protection on hunting trips.

Cunningham said he cut out a piece of one end of each pipe to leave room for his knees to bend while he was tramping through the woods on hunting trips.

G.H. Tucker and Grady Boynton came up with another method to protect their legs from rattlers.

Tucker and Boynton tanned a cowhide and had garments made up from it that reached their waists.

Rattlers were known to strike as high as a man's waist and one Pahokee man had been struck on his chest.

A preliminary report on muskrats led to the conclusion an additional industry for the upper Everglades could be fur trapping.

Besides trapping muskrats, the study indicated the animals could be raised for a profit.

Club elects new president

Kay Barnes was elected president of the Pahokee Woman's Club during the business session held Nov. 17, with vice-president Vivian McKinstry, presiding.

Miss Barnes was elected to fill the vacancy left by the recent resignation of Anne W. Gay, a two-term president. The "Goodies from Mrs. Claus' Kitchen" affair will take place on Saturday, Dec. 4, at the clubhouse, according to Julia Wilkinson and Kay Barnes, who are in charge.

Pies, and decorated cakes, cookies and candies will be sold. There will also be trays of decorated goodies that can be purchased for holiday entertaining, and a special table of hand-made gifts. The sale will begin at 10 a.m.

As is the annual custom, members are asked to bring wrapped gifts to the December luncheon for the veterans at the VA Hospital and for the residents of the School for Boys at Oklawaha.

This is an opportunity for members to spread some Christmas happiness to others besides close friends and relatives.

PBJC workshop subject of BG womens club meeting

The Woman's Club of Belle Glade met at the home of Mrs. Larry Royal at 9:30 a.m. Nov. 18. A delicious breakfast was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Larry Royal, Mrs. Marian Chapman, Mrs. Dennis Harris and Mrs. Roy Litchfield.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. James Chambliss.

Mrs. Clyde Parrish, chairman of the program on education, introduced Mrs. Judy Schiele, who is in charge of the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center of the Junior College in Belle Glade.

Mrs. Schiele spoke on the workshops being planned at the Junior College for Continuing Education for the Spring of 1983.

Anyone interested may call the Registrar's Office at 996-3055 to leave their name. If enough people are interested, the workshop will be offered. Mrs. Schiele also brought to the attention of the audience the programs coming to the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center. On Nov. 28, at 2:30 p.m., "Babes of broadway" will be performed, and on Dec. 11, 1982, "The Nutcracker" will be presented at 8 p.m. by the Ballet Arts of West Palm Beach.

The Dec. 16 meeting will be a catered luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

Members are being asked to bring canned goods to be used for distribution to the selected needy.

Airman completes course

Airman Richard J. Caines, son of Frank D.R. Moor of 2158 Luana Drive, Jacksonville, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force electrician course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

Graduates of the course learned how to install and maintain electrical systems and equipment, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Caines will now serve at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

He is a 1978 graduate of William Penn High School, Philadelphia.

His wife, Armeter, is the daughter of Leroy A. and Bernistine Nelson of 764 Southwest St., Belle Glade, Fla.

THEY CAN'T BELIEVE DEBBY'S PREGNANT... DEBBY CAN'T BELIEVE IT EITHER.

But it's true. Debby has just become one to a million. She has just joined a growing club. The young and the pregnant.

Unexpected, unusual pregnancy becomes a painful reality one million times a year throughout the country. And — it happens right here, in our community. To the girl next door. To our friends. To our own.

Why?

Easy answers. Not right answers. We know. We've heard them all. We know how much information is responsible for the growing numbers of the young and the pregnant.

Before misinformation led to easy answers and hard life choices, we wish we could have said to Debbie ...

"You can say so in way. More than half the teens in the country choose not to be sexually active. You can get straight facts. Many teens choose to talk to their parents openly, honestly. If you can, you should. If you can't, you should seek information from reliable sources."

We're one of those sources. Our experienced counselors and health care professionals provide straight facts, in confidence.

Debbie learned the hard way. But what about one of yours?

Or you?

Kids learn BB safety at sheriff's gun range

What goes clack, clack, clack, zipf, zipf, zipf?
Answer: a BB gun being pumped up and then fired.

BB guns, air rifles which fire a shot .18 of an inch in diameter, are considered safe enough for a child to use.

But BB guns are powerful enough to put out an eye and are banned within the city limits.

Saturday, Nov. 20, 16 youngsters from all over Hendry County, journeyed out to the Hendry County Sheriff's Pistol Range at Pioneer Plantation to learn how to safely use BB guns.

The youngsters, most of whom appeared to be of elementary school age, received a primer from instructors Lt. Ray Womack and Deputy Ray Burghoff on range procedure and use of the BB gun then went outside for target practice.

Under the watchful supervision of their instructors, plus Sheriff Bob Durkin, Capt. Bucky Hood, Sheriff's Chaplain Dennis Postell, Luis Rivera and several parents, including Jack Smith, the young marksmen sharpened their shooting skills from the seven yard and the 15 yard line.

"The class is designed to promote safety," said Sheriff Durkin. "There are so many BB guns around."

Durkin said that he hoped to eventually set up shooting competition for local youngsters.

Saturday's class was the most recent sheriff's department sponsored range activity for the public.

Previously, the department sponsored small arms classes for women. Fifty-two women signed up for the most recent class and 40 showed up two weeks ago. Durkin said that more classes are planned.

Among the youngsters receiving safe shooting certificates Saturday were Clint Harris, Marty Murse, Thomas Strickland, Michael Sullivan, Kevin Welty, Michael Rivera, Phillip Rivera, Brent Hood, Meghan Cannon, Mike Hollorn, Jr., Kenneth Smith, Andy Postell, Denny Postell, Jessie Hough, Johnny Cisneros, and Robert Galbreath.

LT. RAY WOMACK assists Kenneth Smith. Also shown is Jack Smith.

LT. RAY WOMACK demonstrates the aiming technique, while Deputy Ray Burghoff explains range safety to youngsters Saturday at the sheriff's Pioneer pistol range.

'Babes on Broadway' performance set for Dolly Hand Center

BELLE GLADE-Children's Theatre of Royal Poinciana Playhouse production of "Babes on Broadway" will be performed at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center on Sunday, Nov. 28, at 2:30 p.m.

Tickets are $3 each and may be purchased at the Box Office on Sunday or through the Registrar's Office at Palm Beach Junior College Glades Center.

"Babes on Broadway" is a fun filled, new-old musical review featuring many of Broadway's great hits: "I've Got Rhythm," "Sit Down You're Rocking the Boat," "Yankee Doodle," "No Business Like Show Business," and more.

The story revolves around Emily, played by Sheila Khanal from Conniston Jr. High and she wants to be a star.

"Babes on Broadway" will be presented through and created by Lois Biddix, workshop director.

It is a full-length production of the Poinciana Youth Theatre Workshop and is the culmination of the nine-week Fall session under the direction of Lois Biddix and her staff.

There are 42 children in the cast representing 26 schools throughout the County. Pahokee Jr.-Sr. High is represented in the play by Mark Andrews and St. Peter's Lutheran School is represented by Kassie Simonson. For more information, call Judy Schiele, director of the Theatre, at 996-3055.

The only performance for the month of December will be "The Nutcracker." The performance is planned for Dec. 11 at 8 p.m. All seats are $10 and all seats will be reserved. Call to reserve your seats for this performance being produced by Ballet Arts of West Palm Beach.

Memorial service for late Moore Haven pastor set

An old-fashioned dinner on the grounds with an afternoon of singing will be held Sunday at the Church of God of Prophecy in Moore Haven.

The program is a memorial service for the Rev. Johnny Larry Kinard who died Nov. 30, 1981, a victim of cancer.

Singers from around the state will take part in the tribute and a special offering will be received in his name to complete the Sunday School building as he desired.

Dinner will begin at 1 p.m. with singing to start at 2. Bishop Buck Cobb of Belle Glade and Evangelist Chris Miskelly of New Port Richey will lead the singing.

Starting Sunday night at 7:30 and continuing nightly through Dec. 5, a revival will be held at the church. Evangelist Miskelly will be the revival speaker and Betty Baker, wife of New Port Richey, will be in charge of the music.

Winner of the Thanksgiving banquet basket was Charlotte Wiggins of Moore Haven. With help from the community, the church raised $200 to be used by the Victory Leaders for printing tracts.

Truck overturns, goes in canal

Casey Greener, 26, of Clewiston, escaped drowning Monday morning when the truck he was driving overturned in a Shawnee Farms drainage canal, pinning him in the cab.

Greener, an employee of Berner Oil Co., had made a delivery to Shawnee and was returning along Packing House Road around 10:30 a.m. when the incident occurred.

Greener told investigating Glades County Sheriff Ken Holly he was keeping to the edge of the road to allow room for cane wagons to pass him and driving very slowly. When he attempted to turn back into the road, the truck's rear wheels sank into the soft muck. The truck entered the canal front-end first and overturned.

Greener was assisted in escaping from the truck cab by Kenny Hendry, who was plowing in a nearby field and saw the truck go into the canal.

Greener was taken to Hendry General Hospital where he was admitted for treatment of possible back injuries. Damage to the truck was estimated at $1,100, according to the deputy's report.

Plenty of gas and most stations will be open

Supplies of fuel will be ample for the Thanksgiving Day holiday, according to AAA Clubs of Florida public relations, Fuel Gauge.

Also, the Florida AAA reports 77 percent of the service stations will be open on Thanksgiving Day.

Florida gasoline prices dropped another penny in November at self service pumps.

Fuel Gauge reports. Prices at the full service pump remained unchanged from October levels, however.

The latest price declines at the self service pump means the cost of gasoline has declined about 3 cents per gallon over the last four months. There has been a 1.1 cent per gallon drop at the full service pump over the same period.

The average price for self service regular is now $11.41, while self service unleaded averaged $12.26. Unchanged averages for full service were $13.38 for regular and $13.39 for unleaded.

The D.J. "Cur" Hester Family wish to thank all of the dear friends who helped us through our tragedy. We thank you so much for the food, flowers, cards and prayers. A Jasper Barber and extra special thanks to the Moore Haven Lodge No. 61 F&AM. God loves you.

The problem of converting to the new Improved VA Pension law. This has been a question the minds of many old pension law veterans widows since Public Law 95-588 became effective Jan. 1, 1979.

This is sometimes a difficult decision because of all the many variables involved. Anyone thinking of changing to the Improved Pension should consult a well qualified Service Officer to assist them.

The VA is very protective and does all it can to ensure that the right decision is made to prevent a loss of benefits. Since the VA does not have the intimate relationship with veterans and widows that service officers often do, VA cannot have all

Vets' Corner

By DORIS SLUSSER

The Farm Front

By DOYLE CONNER, State Commissioner of Agriculture

You've seen them along Florida highways — those green and white, diamond-shaped signs that say, "Tree Farm." They are the symbols of a little known yet significant movement that has been growing among private landowners in our state's forestry industry. Just as the name implies, the signs mark forested land on which the crop is trees grown for use by people exactly like any other agricultural product.

Whether the crop is pines, poplars or pines, smart management is a key to success for the landowner and good management is what the Tree Farm movement supplies to the tree farmer.

Last week, I was invited to attend when Florida's Outstanding Tree Farmer of 1982 was selected. He is Harold C. Lucas who bought 646 acres of cut-over land near Crestview 31 years ago. Living in Kentucky at the time, where he was vice president of American Creosoting Co., he began in 1957 to reforest the land with some 200,000 pines. He frequently commuted from Kentucky to help personally with the work.

Today, Mr. Lucas' tree farm is ready to produce pines and timber and is already producing pulpwood. One of the basic requirements of the Tree Farm movement is that the landowner must manage it for repeated crops of trees and this is being accomplished on the Lucas land.

In addition, his management has allowed several kinds of uses of the forest, all at the same time and without seriously harming each other.

...in some cases to make the best decision. VA should also be qualified to advise claimants which benefits are best for them.

Once a veteran has elected to receive Improved Pension, the election may be disaffirmed under provision of Public Law 96-272 if it does done before the first check payable under the Improved Pension is received. A veteran may then restore his service-connected benefit at any time.

Although the 1982-83 college year has just started, it's not too early to think about 1983-84, especially if your children will need outside financial assistance.

Here's how to go about it: First, get a financial aid form. Most colleges require this document when you apply for aid so fill it out carefully and get it back to College Scholarship Service as soon as possible.

Second, don't apply to just one institution. College Scholarship Service will send your application to as many colleges as you wish for a fee of $6.50 for the first application and $4.50 for each additional one.

Third, remember that colleges provide aid not only to the needy, but to scholarship achievers as well. A family with a good income may be needy because several members are attending college simultaneously.

Tree farming is new forest industry

He has laid hardwoods along creek bottoms and other areas for wildlife. The wooded hillsides support a healthy population of quail, wild turkey and deer. There is a pond for waterfowl and fish and in addition, a private corporation, Louisiana Pacific, which helps him manage the land, shows it to others as an example of good forestry practices.

The Florida Forestry Association staff headed by a former employee of our department, Carroll Lamb, administers the national Tree Farm program in Florida.

Some 1,813 tree farmers have been designated in our state since the program began and the farms certified in the program total nearly 6.5 million acres — truly an eye-opening figure.

Tree farming is not a get rich quick scheme, but I'm told that the landowner's income from his trees can be doubled or tripled through applying its standards.

To qualify as a tree farm, the land must be privately owned, managed for growing and harvesting crop after crop of trees and be protected from fire, insects, disease and destructive grazers. Trees must be harvested in a way that allows prompt reforestation.

We are seeing the acreage available for tree production dropping steadily in our state as higher uses take over the land. But the Tree Farm standards of management surely will be able to step up our tree production if applied to even more land.

If you are a landowner with wooded acreage, you may want to look into the matter. At the very least, you will be given a free inspection of your woods by a professional forester who can tell you what you need to do to increase production of wood. When your woods make Tree Farm grade,

Glades, Hendry were also-rans

Neither Hendry nor Glades ranked among the top counties in the state for getting out the vote in the Nov. 2 general election.

In Hendry County, 54.64 percent of the county's 4,482 registered voters — a total of 4,068 — made it to the polls.

In Glades County, 1,628 voted out of the 3,388 registered, or 48.05 percent.

The figures were released by the Secretary of State George Firestone who is awarding plaques to the counties logging the highest voter turnout.

The winners were Martin, Lee, and Palm Beach counties, all of which exceeded a 60 percent voter turnout.

Glades and Hendry competed against counties with fewer than 50,000 registered voters. The winner in that category was Martin County where 66.30 percent of the 40,160 registered went to the polls Nov. 2.

State seeks airline bids

you can be certain that foresters for large buying firms will know of its existence. This helps assure a good market for the crop.

Any landowner who wants more information can contact the Florida Forestry Association, P.O. Box 1696, Tallahassee 32302, or phone 904-222-5645. Additionally, some information may be obtained from any district office of the Division of Forestry nearest you.

State seeks airline bids

TALLAHASSEE — State Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter has announced that a contract plan for reduced-fare air travel for state and local government employees is saving the state more than on half million dollars.

The plan went into effect May 1 to award contracts to the low bidder for reduced fares on scheduled flights serving most Florida cities where regular airline service is available. Savings to date are more than $582,500.

According to Gunter the cabinet is considering new contracts with five airlines to run from Dec. 1 to Aug. 31, 1983. The fares bid by the airlines range from 33 to 59 percent below present standard coach fares and are guaranteed throughout the contract period, he said.

Companies that submitted the lowest bids are Eastern Airlines, Air Florida, Dolphin Airways, Devoe Airlines and State Airlines.

If the new contracts are approved, reduced fares will be available to all state and local government employees.

SERIOUS PILGRIMS get ready to eat an early Thanksgiving Day dinner. The kindergarten pupils of Ola Perkins are,

Circuit court convened this week

A trial jury was to begin Tuesday in Glades County Circuit Court in the case of Lloyd Vincent Turner, 21, charged with aggravated battery.

Turner was arrested July 28 by Glades County deputies after a shooting at Ramey's Trailer Park in which Bobby Sutton, Turner's roommate, was injured.

Cases continued during Monday's session included those of Charles Whidden, aggravated battery; Ronald Summerall, first degree murder in the death of Ronald Darol Turner; and Gerald Ray Clemons, possession of a controlled substance.

In other court dispositions Monday, a charge of possession of a controlled substance against Virgil W. Townsend was dropped. Guilty pleas were entered by Jerry Lee Redd and George Wright Byrd, both charged with burglary and grand theft. A presentencing investigation was ordered in Redd's case and adjudication of guilt withheld. Byrd was adjudged guilty and sentenced to three years probation with a special condition that he serve 364 days in the Glades County Jail.

Dennis Randall Leitner pled guilty to five charges and was adjudicated guilty. Charges included two counts of burglary of a conveyance, two counts of petty theft, and one count of dealing in stolen property. Leitner was sentenced to one year and one day on each count with the sentences to be served concurrently.

A plea of nolo contendere was entered by Kenneth David Collier, charged with leaving the scene of an accident with injuries. Adjudication was withheld and Collier was sentenced to one year probation.

Terriers poised for 82-83 season

by Coach Sonny Hughes

Moore Haven Junior Senior High's basketball season will begin Monday and Tuesday nights on the home court. Monday, the tiny Terriers, the Junior High team, will play host to LeBelle Christian in a single game at 7 p.m. Admission is $1 Tuesday night, the varsity and JV boys go into action, hosting the Green Dragons from Lake Placid. The JV game starts at 6:30 and the varsity game at 8. Admission for these games is $1 for students and $2 for adults.

The Terrier varsity squad lost all of last year's team to graduation except for six-foot, 215-pound senior forward Gerald Moore. Moore saw limited action last season but came on strong in the District 11 tournament.

This year is not without hope although it will be tough to beat a 21-7 season. Last year's JV team is eager to take up the slack after losing only two games last season.

Expected to start and to see a lot of action in filling the vacancies will be seniors Leonard Ford, Charlie Ford and Adrian Thomas. Greg Perkins, also a senior, has been a pleasant surprise in early practice sessions and should help out at the shooting guard spot.

Outstanding juniors expected to play strong roles this season are point guards Anthony Williams and Mark Holder. Leonardo Bailum will be a main scoring threat with Julius Bishop and Frank draftswite helping out in the rebounding department.

Don Hill just moved into the community and has contributed his talents and efforts to the Moore Haven team. Hill is a senior forward from Muncie, Ind. He could give the Terriers that always needed depth.

Bernard McPherson, another senior, rounds out the roster. He is on the varsity for the first year.

Come out Tuesday night and support the Terriers. Win or lose, the Terriers will play fast and exciting basketball.

It was choice of weapons

A Saturday afternoon fight in which such weapons as a cinder block, a seven-inch butcher knife, a machete, and a pair of scissors were allegedly used, landed one man in jail and the other in the hospital.

James E. Lewis, 39, was charged with aggravated assault by Glades Sheriff's deputies called to break up a fight on Oak Street around 1:30 p.m. William Joplin, 54, was taken to Hendry General Hospital for treatment.

A Belle Glade man, who, deputies report, gave them a wrong birth date, has been charged with obstructing justice and driving with a suspended license. John Lee Davis, 27, was stopped by deputies Nov. 19 on US 27. When he failed to produce a driver's license, deputies asked for his birth date before making a license check. When the birth date supplied by the Department of Parents' complaint spurs review of discipline policy

Glades County School Board has agreed to review its discipline policy and hear recommendations from parents and teachers.

The decision was made at an emergency session called last Wednesday night in response to a complaint by a parent.

The parent, Jerry Smith, advised the board and a large group of school personnel, parents, and other interested persons attending the meeting, that his son, Jerry, age 5, had been disciplined by Dr. Leonard Crowell, principal of the elementary school, in the lunch room.

The disciplinary action was "one lick with a board," Smith said, which was administered on the child's rear. Because the boy has undergone surgery there for removal of a mole, an injury resulted, Smith said, in that swelling and a build-up of fluid may endanger the skin graft.

The child will be under the care of the pediatrician for the next four to six weeks, Smith said.

Smith charged that the punishment was made in haste and was excessive.

Responding to Smith, Crowell explained that under the teachers' contract, they are not assigned lunch room duty and that he and three to five people (including aides) try to maintain order. In order to control the noise and harassment, which Crowell said included taking food from other children, he asked teachers to sit with their pupils for two days and to keep "classroom behavior."

On the third day, they would get a "lick" if they misbehaved, Crowell said. The incident happened, he said, on the fifth day when the Smith boy and another were "play fighting."

The plan, Crowell said, was to begin with strict control and gradually relax it when order was established.

"I don't like to paddle kids and never have," said Crowell. "I am very sorry it happened. I'd be crazy to knowingly do that to a child."

When the boy's grandfather, Ernest Hilliard, who was sitting next to Crowell, began berating him as "stupid," Chairman Mike Pressley gavelled for order and asked Hilliard to wait for Crowell to finish. Some time later, Hilliard again verbally attacked Crowell and Pressley adjourned the meeting for 30 minutes.

Hilliard then left the room to talk with Pressley and others and did not return. A scuffle took place outside during which Ken Bracken was reportedly knocked down. Bracken, however, refused to discuss what had happened when he returned to the meeting.

During discussion, it was learned that the boy's condition was known by his teacher but not by the aides, and that while his history of surgery appeared in his medical file, it was not contained in his cumulative file.

The assistant principal, Gary Clark, knew, according to Smith, who said he thought Clark would have advised Crowell.

An objection to the strict behavior demanded in the lunch room was made by a parent, David Whidden, who asked who had made the decision to impose such strict rules. "In Martin boot camp, we could talk and put our elbows on the table," said Whidden. "Could you make your five-year-old sit with hands folded?" he asked.

Saying he believed children should be taught manners at home, Whidden said, "Maybe someone should look at the harshness of rules for young children."

A lunch room aide replied, "When you put 200 children in a lunch room with three or four chaperones, it's an all or nothing event. For the first time, we're not scraping chili off the wall. My own children say that for the first time nobody is throwing peas at them. If you do punishment out of the lunch room, the child will know it and you will need an aide for every child."

Replied Whidden, "If one aide can't handle 15 kids, let's get more efficient aides."

Crowell, noting that he eats with the children because he likes eating with them, said, "We're asking is that they sit up properly. We tend to slowly relax but you start out firm at the beginning of the year and then relax or you will have control."

Asked by board member Jackie Bass what would take to resolve the situation, Smith said, "We have no personal vendetta against Crowell. We did not come here to cause trouble. We are interested in seeing a little more discretion used for children this young."

"We want assurance this isn't going to happen again. We want assurance we will be duly compensated, not for gain, just for his [the boy's] welfare. We just want compensation to what is necessary."

Saying he shared the obligation since it was objective as superintendent to see that school room behavior and manners are taught, Sch Superintendent Lester Mensch assured Smiths that the policy would be reviewed.

"I saw the boy's rump and I share the parental concern," said Mensch, "but I've worked with Dr. Crowell and it's incomprehensible to me believe he would do this deliberately."

"We will review procedures and ascertain to every child's medical history is updated and in the cumulative file where there's access to it there are future medical payments. It would be show of faith by this board and the administration that we stand expenses if further care necessary," Mensch said.

On motion of Bass, the board approved reviewing procedures, profiling handicaps, and pay expenses incurred by the Smiths.

An objection was filed by Mrs. Hilliard, who the school nurse, to the health folders being referred to as "my health folders." They are available to anyone on the staff, she said.

Apologizing for refusing to hear further discussion but describing the situation as "volatile," Pressley said the item would be placed on the agenda of the December meeting. When it was remarked that the December meeting is a meeting when some people might not be able to attend, Pressley postponed discussion until January meeting, which is a night meeting.

Asked whether children would be able to tell the lunchroom meanwhile, Mensch replied: view of the concern with our policies, I direct, not asked, Dr. Crowell to relax discipline in the lunch room. It was not to be a permanent thing was to be gradually relaxed."

At one point during the meeting school board member Phyllis Norris read the board's statement to show that Dr. Crowell had told it. The board's policy allows only the administration to administer corporal punishment.

parental permission is not required and parents have notified the school in advance if they first want to be notified.

Bloodmobile to visit

Donations to the Glades County Blood Bank will make possible Saturday, Dec. 4, when the bloodmobile unit will park at the Health Department on US 27 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Donors can make appointments beforehand by contacting Alvin's Bail & Tackle, Jody's Crafty Corner, or any member of the American Business Women's Association.

Friday closings:

Glades County Courthouse and Moore Haven City Hall will be closed Friday. Also, the Glades County Public Library will observe a four-day holiday for Thanksgiving.

The Moore Haven branch of Flagship Bank of Okaloosa and the post office will reopen Friday for business.

Merry Christmas Time bazaar slated Dec. 4

Glades County Garden Club will hold its annual Merry Christmas Time Bazaar Saturday, Dec. 4, at the Doyle Center Building.

Doors will open at 9 a.m. with Santa Claus on hand to greet all comers and Mrs. John Coffey on hand to take pictures of Santa and his visitors.

Mrs. Calvin Whidden, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Reathel Morgan at the Trash 'n' Treasure booth, Mrs. Robert Patchen with crafts, Mrs. Henry Seale, arrangements, Mrs. Ben Swendsen, plants, and Mrs. Vernia Gibson, supervising the sale of baked goods and chili — to be eaten in or taken out.

Proceeds from all garden club events are used to beautify Glades County.

Christmas party planned

The Senior Citizens Club is making plans for a Christmas party Dec. 16 with all residents over 55 invited to attend.

The party will include a covered dish dinner followed by a gift exchange, according to Elsie Jordan, who's in charge of making arrangements.

Birthday's of Vera Peacock and Henry Causey were marked by members at their meeting last Wednesday. The group also welcomed back a number of Snowbirds who are club members.

"Gift Pax" provided by a coffee company were distributed by Katy Morgan and gratefully accepted by the members.

The club voted to donate 50 cents to the American Legion and Auxiliary for the use of the Legion hall.

Members enjoyed a meal after which Bingo was played.

Give thanks for your blessings

One of the finest traditions ever started in this country is Thanksgiving. It means as much today as it did back then when every day was a struggle for survival against starvation, disease, and weather.

It is a uniquely American holiday, reflecting the special nature of this country.

All of us, in one way or another, have much to be thankful for: the gift of life, family, and freedom.

Life may not always be a pleasure cruise, but most of us can look at our lot in life and see that we have been blessed in countless ways.

Thank goodness that we are Americans and have the privilege of living in this wonderful country.

The fourth Thursday in November comes but once a year, so use this occasion the way it was intended. Give thanks.

Congratulations 10-0 Tigers

Perfection in life is rare, but the Clewiston High School football team attained it Friday with their 27-14 win over Okeechobee.

The win gave Clewiston a perfect 10-0 football season.

A perfect season is what many coaches, players and fans dream of, but never see.

Everyone hopes for a perfect season, but many variables, including talent, coaching, the schedule, and injuries, come into the picture.

Clewiston, playing most of the year with only about 20 players, took on some of the toughest teams in the state.

Pahokee ranked as the finest 2A competitor the Tigers faced and the game went down to the wire before Clewiston won the 3-0 contest.

Clewiston also faced many Class 3A teams, including Ft. Myers, Ft. Myers Cypress Lake, Miami Pace, Sebring, Okeechobee, Cocoa Beach, and Leesburg.

It was a tough schedule and one that should prepare Clewiston well for the playoffs.

The last Glades team that went 10-0 during the regular season, Glades Day School, went on to a state championship.

What has already been accomplished gives us a tremendous feeling of pride. Congratulations team and best of luck in the playoffs!

Trash sites a good idea

The recent proposal that Belle Glade develop six trash collection sites should be looked at by other cities which don't have such facilities.

City officials often discuss and lament the trash and garbage situation in their cities, but seldom can they come with a solution.

The proposal to develop trash collection sites may not solve the problem. Their presence may not create clean streets and sidewalks and lawns. Areas with trashy images may not lose them because of the new sites.

But that wouldn't be the city's fault. The city, by creating these trash collection sites, are giving the citizens an opportunity to keep their city clean.

Citizens who have complained to the city about trash littering the city and giving it a bad image can do something about it now.

True, they can only keep their own plots clean. They can't go into another's property and remove what they consider trash.

But they can also urge their neighbors to use the sites, once they are established, and keep their places clean also.

This type of joint-project between the city, local civic clubs and the citizens themselves, present an opportunity to clean up the city's image. We urge citizens to use the facilities once they are set up, and we also urge other cities lacking an effective means of collecting trash to consider such projects.

It's a time of brotherhood, a time of peace and a time to give thanks for all our blessings... as we reflect upon the true meaning of Thanksgiving.

May this special day be filled with health and happiness... the joy of giving and receiving... as we celebrate this occasion with friends and loved ones.

Well done, Mr. Pressley

We would like to add our words of commendation to Glades County School Board Chairman Mike Pressley for his masterful handling of last Wednesday's special meeting.

In an emotionally-charged atmosphere he managed to keep order and yet allow both sides to be heard on the issues. We applaud his timing also, in curtailing further discussion after opinions had been expressed on both points of view. To have allowed more discussion might well have produced more heat than light. By postponing debate until another meeting, there is time for some quiet contemplation on whether the policy on disciplinary measures needs to be revised or whether similar situations could be averted without changing the basic policy.

It was the kind of meeting that tries the mettle of veteran chairmen. For Mike Pressley, it was the first school board meeting he chaired. Well done, Mr. Pressley.

Lake Okeechobee quality plan submitted

Lake Okeechobee's water quality got another boost as the Governing Board of the South Florida Water Management District approved a plan for a permanent solution to water quality concerns in the Lake.

The plan, which will be submitted to the State Department of Environmental Regulation for review, calls for backpumping operations from the Everglades Agricultural Area to be stored in lands known as the Holey Land and the Rotenberger Tract for reuse as irrigation water.

Organic nitrogen naturally occurs in the Glades muck soils. However, under backpumping operations utilized for flood protection and water supply, this nutrient was deposited in Lake Okeechobee. Over a period of time this could lead to an unhealthy balance of dissolved oxygen in the Lake, harming fish and wildlife, recreation and water supply values.

Under the plan, backpumping will be eliminated except in times of extreme flooding, thereby reducing the nitrogen input into the Lake by about 96 percent. Instead, the agricultural runoff would be funneled south and stored in the Holey Land, which will be used exclusively as a water reservoir, and in the Rotenberger Tract, which will be managed by the Game and Freshwater Fish Commission specifically as a wildlife management for deer.

Due to time and cost considerations, the project is proposed to be built by District forces, rather than by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers as is the usual procedure. Corps' permitting procedures and bid regulations could double the cost of the project, estimated at $8.6 million, and would add years to the completion date.

"We can get cracking on this right now," District Executive Director Jack Maloy said, "and we wouldn't have to add any personnel to do it. I would like people to understand that this organization has a serious commitment to water quality and environmental considerations."

Letters Policy

We solicit and encourage letters to the editor.

Our guidelines are simple:

- No libelous content.
- Letters should be relatively brief — no more than 300 words as a general rule.
- Signatures are required.
- No poetry, please.

sharing for the project would be on a state-regional-local basis.

The state would be responsible for consolidating privately-owned parcels in the Holey Land and Rotenberger Tracts and swapping them for other state-owned lands by July 1, 1983.

The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission would participate by funding 50 percent of the Rotenberger Project at a cost of $783,000, with the remainder to be paid by the District.

The cost of constructing the Holey Land Reservoir would be shared equally between the local agricultural interests utilizing the system and the District taxpayers at large, with each paying about $3.55 million.

"This is a departure from our normal funding procedure of 80 percent federal funds and 20 percent District funds, but this does not mean that our water supply and flood control funding mechanism will change in the future," Maloy said. "This is a water quality project which is something different.

There are tangible benefits in this plan for everyone and there are tangible costs in this plan for everyone."

The planning, design, permit acquisition, construction and operation of the project would be District responsibilities.

The plan, which responds to Department of Environmental Regulation permitting requirements for Lake Okeechobee, also addresses the input of phosphorus into the Lake from dairies to the north. An ongoing Rural Clean Waters Program in this area, designed to retain animal wastes on ranch sites, thereby reducing the inflow of phosphorus into the Lake, is included in the plan.

In addition to being submitted to DER for permit approval, the Governor and Cabinet will also consider the plan in terms of the state-owned Holey Land and Rotenberger Tracts. It is anticipated that this pro-

A bull market ...

It's ironic that Peter Pulitzer, grandson of the man who made millions from a newspaper empire, should become the subject of one of the most sensational stories in years.

The Pulitzer divorce trial, with allegations of all kinds of strange sex and drug goings-on, has made headlines all over the country.

It's kind of scary to think that something like this is going on over yonder in Palm Beach.

Just goes to prove that it's either the kind of thing that people like to read or that journalists get a thrill out of writing.

It makes you wonder why more divorce trials aren't publicized. Generally, though it's only the famous and the rich who get to air all their dirty linen in public.

I wonder what kind of redeeming value this sort of publicity has. You'd think that any one rich and famous would quake at the thought of getting divorced if similar exposes are likely or possible.

Apparently this has little effect, because it seems rich people get just as unhappy in marriage as poor ones do — maybe even more so.

With the bull market in divorces these days, I'm glad that we don't generally treat them as news.

If we did, the paper would undoubtedly be juicier and more scandalous. But there wouldn't be room for much else either.

Two Glades area teams will be taking part in the state football championships Friday. Clewiston plays Melbourne Central Catholic and Glades Day School travels to Miami. Good luck to both teams.

AILS A DEWING
AND WHAT NOT

I'm in my own time warp

While the rest of mankind blithely hums, bleeps, and swooshes through an electronically tuned-in world, I'm still trying to figure out why a zipper slips and what makes water come out of faucets.

My knowledge of advanced technology extends to understanding how a flush toilet works. I live in constant dread that one day that too will go electronic. I couldn't cope.

Focusing a TV set is beyond me. If I change channels I circle around oblivion — hearing phantom voices talking in a blizzard. I think I've even picked up on ET's phone calls. By the time I find out where NBC's peacock is roosting, it's molted. On my set, the CBS eye blinks back at me and weeps.

But nothing quite defeats me like the telephone. Just like my TV, there's the voice or someone talking, but nobody's there. The difference is that I'm expected to talk back to a beep. I can't do it. I usually hang up and write myself a script. I can recite into the recorder. What I want to do is record a reply that would say: "Hi, Beep. This is Burp. When your real self arrives ask it to call me." I imagine endless conversations continuing between Beep and Burp with never a human contact.

Or I plot revenge. A sultry voice for the males that says, "Hello, there. You asked me to call you when I had a night free. Well, tonight's free. Just call me, Honey. I'll be waiting." Followed by the sound of a click and no phone number. A velvety baritone would do for the gals: "... just in town for the day. How about dinner? I'll call you back later."

Some people are born before their time and are proclaimed geniuses. Nothing is ever said about who they are born after our season passed: ham crinklers awash in a battery-operated world of push buttons.

Meanwhile, I'll just sit here and review the multiplication tables. With everybody over four years old shipping out calculators, somebody may have to be able to remember someday how we used to do it in our heads.

Time was when knowledge was power. Now all knowledge is powered and it pays to keep your batteries dry.
